The closing exercises of the public school, which began with a piano recital on Friday evening, given by Miss Hinkle's pupils, and closed with the final exercises on Tuesday night, were most interesting throughout. All of Miss Baker's pupils, about twenty in number, appeared on the program, and their work gave evidence of their careful training and of hard work on the part of the pupils. On Saturday evening there was a declamation and recitation contest for the "business" meeting, which was a most successful event. The entertainment opened with a beautiful drill by sixteen young women representing different flowers. This was followed by the recitations and declamations. All the pupils acquitted themselves well, but after long consideration the judges awarded the medal to Miss Margaret Pettit, who had recited very graphically "To the Lagoon" Sunday evening. Dr. J. Lloyd delivered the baccalaureate sermon in the school auditorium, Monday evening the exercises were a declamation contest, in which there were six participants, three to each side, the subject being, "Resolved, That Virginia Is the Greatest State in the Union." The affirmative side was debated by Miss Gladie Gilly, Miss Zola Palmer and Jerome Wells, and the negative by Peter Wolf, Peter Hammonds and John Allen Goodloe. The committee decided in favor of the affirmative, and Miss Gladie Gilly was awarded the best argument medal.
Graduating exercises were held on Tuesday night, and were in charge of the senior class. Samuel Nickels delivered the baccalaureate sermon, and Miss Ollie M. Kelly read the history and prophecy of the church. Dr. J. Lloyd delivered the baccalaureate sermon, and Miss Ollie M. Kelly read the history and prophecy of the church. Dr. J. Lloyd delivered the baccalaureate sermon, and Miss Ollie M. Kelly read the history and prophecy of the church.

POMPEIAN CREAM
Preserves the complexion. And there is no doubt but that it will do for you what it has for several million enthusiastic users. Pompeian gives a clear, clean, fresh, youthful skin, first, because it makes the pores completely clean; and, second, because it stimulates the skin and circulation in a most beneficial way. However, we don't claim that wonders can be done in a day. Most people see an improvement in their appearance from the first massage, but defects of the skin that have taken years to reach their present condition are not overcome at once.
